“ From Nakasone Yoichi

It was a very good time working at NuCORE with you David. You are the specialist of the software development. I learned a lot of things from you.

I still remember the story we talked about a fishing game of big salmon in the American river.

Rest in peace, David....

“ David and I got started almost the same time at Nucore. We used to shoot bad jokes at each other -- I would call him David fisherman and he would call my shy--in. David was such a fun guy with the nicest demeanor ... I will always miss you, bro.

“ I remember when Dave and I first got married we used to drive to Santa Cruz on our motorcycle.
And joy in his eyes the first time we visited Wisconsin and he showed me all the things that were important to him as he was growing up.
