“ Hi Pumpkin

A week ago today Friday the 26th you went away. A voice told me to be prepared for at the time of your passing I would get a signal. Sure enough, at 9:07 while your Godson Tiger was at the kitchen table and I was at your bedroom door, we heard a soft knock on the back door. It knocked enough for me to respond who is it. I opened the door but you were not there. Thank you for letting me know what the voice in my mind told me.

Pumpkin. You would always phone Tiger. Pleading for his return to his Dad.. Never did you give up. Candles you would take to OLR. Only now after your passing your Godson phoned me. Told him the story of your passing. Now God willing, the three of us will be reunited one last time at your service then a final time in Upland at your burial. The saying goes, one door closes another door opens. God willing the door will never close again with your Godson and my son Jonathan or Tiger with his Dad

O Pumpkin how I loved you so. I miss seeing you sitting on your wheelchair. I miss seeing you moving about our little home with your walker. I miss bring dinner from Our Lady Of The Rosary to you. Sorry for the things I didn't do. I;m sorry for the things I didn't say. Sorry for the things I said. Call it anything else. I'm sorry for myself. And I miss you so. God the Father knows. I miss you. I miss you. I love you so.

We celebrated 4th of July at the Pleasanton Fair. Fireworks. We celebrated the Fremont Festival of the Arts. Fish Fries at Holy Spirit Church last year. Thanks to God

Last Saturday I watched you walk to the ParaTransit Bus going to OLR Mass celebration. I waited for you to return helping you into our home. Never again will I see you and your walker in our driveway. Tears fall when I see you in my mind. I miss you.

Thank God we shared in the Summer Fruit from our Trees. We planted Tomateos too.

Someday my tears will dry away. Never will I forget you. You were my Soulmate. And I miss you so.

O how I miss you. In the name of Jesus Christ, my sins are forgiven. In the name of Jesus Christ My sins are forgiven. In the name of Jesus Christ. My sins are forgiven.
