“ My father, Robert Tyler, was a complicated man. He was passionate about all things. He loved fishing, Westwood, family. He especially loved his brothers and sisters. He loved music. I have a memory of my parents dancing in the kitchen to big band music. During his 12yr struggle with Alzheimer's, we found each other again. He told me stories of long ago and would even sing a song to me, that had been my parent's "song". Now he is at peace, and so am I.

“ I remember every Sunday, Bob would ride his motorcycle to Dorothy's and Lois' for that Sunday Paper and a cup of coffee!

The photo he kept in his wallet of his first car, he was so proud of it!

The speakers he put in my VW he asked for Guinness Stout Beer...
Shouting "Marshmallows!" at the Dodger's Game....

Much Love Bob, thanks for the great memories.
